AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS

(From the United States Census Report)

Maine has a total land area of 29,895 square miles, of which 9,844 square miles, or 32.9% are included in farms. The surface consists of two great slopes, the northern and the southern. The northern slope, comprising about one-third of the total area is drained by the St. John river and its tributaries, the southern slope by numerous streams which flow into the Atlantic. The broad, flat divide which separates the two slopes serves as a natural reservoir, most of the rivers of the state having their sources in the large lakes of this region. Some of the lakes have outlets on both sides of the watershed.

The surface of a large part of the state is rugged and broken. The soil of the river valleys is very productive, but in the mountainous regions and along the sea coast it is for the most part sterile. The Aroostook Valley, which comprises the largest area of fertile farming land in New England, has a deep, porus, yellow loam, especially adapted to the growing of fruits and vegetables. This section has developed remarkably during the last decade.

1788—Town of Nobleboro incorporated.

1847—July 26, Damariscotta incorporated. Formed of territory taken from Nobleboro and Bristol.

1852—Marine Bank of Damariscotta established.

1864—Marine Bank changed to First Nat'l bank.

1896 (?)—Town Village Water Co. organized.

1901—Damariscotta Steamship line established.

1906—Electric lighting plant established.

1906—New steel bridge erected.

The extensive oyster shell banks located on both sides of the Damariscotta river deserve special mention. These banks or mounds, several in number, are estimated to contain several million cubic feet of oyster shells with a few clam shells, Their origin ante-dates history. The theory, well substantiated, is that they are the accumulation of centuries and the by-product of the waters of the river near by whence they were taken by the Native Indians.

Settlers in Damariscotta.

In 1650 John Brown, who had purchased lands of the Indians, and Robert Scott were living with their families at the "Salt Water Falls" Scott lived just opposite the great bank of oyster shells. Brown lived south of him.

In 1730 John Huston of Boston settled here.

Thomas Hutchins had a house here in 1751. Doubtless several others located here before the Indian Wars but were then driven off. Among the men who came here and formed their homes after the Indian Wars, whose descendants have become prominent in the town were the Chapmans, Houstons Days, Hodgdons, Halls, Knowltons, Capt. Benj. Plummer.

Clarks and Flints. Mr. Chapman, probably the father of Joseph and Nathaniel, who were prominent townsmen, owned a large part of the land on which the village now stands. Mr. Day owned south of him. Mathew Cottrill an Irishman bought land of Chapman and erected the house now occupied by Dr. Stetson. Nathaniel and Jeremiah Knowlton and Daniel Dennis Esq. were prominent in town affairs in Noblebo10 about 1790.

Prominent Shipbuilders in Damariscotta.

Daniel Day, Joseph Day, Daniel Day Jr., Abner Stetson, Wm. Hitchcock, Benj. D. Metcalf, Elbridge Norris, Nathaniel Clapp, Nathaniel Austin, Cyrus Cotter, Henry Hiscock, Rufus Hiscock and others.

The earliest of whom we have learned was Arad Hazeltine, who came from Belfast in 1835. Those since that time have been George Reed, Col. John Hussey, Oakes Rundlette, John Coffin, Hon. Ezra B. French, Nathaniel M. Pike, John H. Converse, Frank Weeks, W. H. Hilton, Howard E. Hall, Kendall M. Dunbar and Joel P Huston. Mr. Hilton came in 1864. Mr. Hall a native of Newcastle, began about 1870. Mr. Dunbar is secretary of the State Senate and does little local practice. Mr. Huston practiced a short time before accepting the position of Cashier of the First National Bank.

PHYSICIANS

Dr. Daniel McRuer and Dr. Eastman were early practicing physicians in Damariscotta. Dr. Robert Dixon practiced many years during the middle of the last century. Dr. F. E. Russell and Fred N. Huston, a native of Damariscotta, who later removed to Rockland, have practiced here. Those now in practice are Dr. Joseph M. King, Dr. Edwin F. Stetson and Dr. Wm. H. Parsons.

Dr. Rufus C. Chapman is the oldest practicing dentist in the State and the first in Lincoln to use ether. Drs. Wm. H. White and H. A. Harvey are also located here for the practice of dental surgery.

Muscongus Island History

The island known as Muscongus or Loud's island, and earlier as Samoset's island is of much historical interest. Here, it is said, the noted Indian chief, Samoset, held his headquarters and the early Indian cemetery located near the northern end of the island is said to be his final resting place.

The island is about three miles long, with an average of one mile wide but is shaped to resemble a minature South America. A good harbor indents the eastern coast line around which are clustered several fishermen's homes. Marsh Island, which shelters the harbor (bearing the same name) lies the home of one family. The residents are chiefly fishermen although the island contains some good farms.

Alexander Gould, a son-in-law of John Brown was probably the first white settler, coming here around 1650. Wm. Loud, an English naval officer, together with one Bishop came here about the middle of the eighteenth century. Mr. Loud located on the north-east end of the island. He was born around 1710, and died about 1800. His son, Wm. Solomon Loud, born about 1740 and died about 1820, was the father of Samuel, William, and Roberts. Samuel moved to Round Pond, and Wm. to Orrington; Roberts remained on the island and is the ancestor of many of the present families.

Wm. Carter, great-grandfather of the Carters of the present generation, and Wm. Carter, Jr., were the first of this name to live here. They were of Scotch descent, but born in England. John L. Carter, father of Robert, was born here Oct. 10, 1799. When returning from a meeting with others he saw clearly the famous battle between the Boxer and the Enterprise which was fought in waters between Monhegan and Pemaquid. Robert has long been a leading man in managing the island's affairs.

The Poland family is of English origin. Lemard Poland came from Massachusetts shortly after the Revolution, and is said to have been the only man of Muscongus Island, who saw service in the war for independence. He enlisted at the age of fourteen. When arrived here he settled on Marsh Island, and now lies buried in the little island cemetery.

The island enjoys a peculiar political setting inasmuch as it has no government whatever, and pays no allegience to a sovereign power. It is classified as a part of Lincoln county, and has always remained true to the Union when properly approached. Its people cast no vote and pay no taxes. The last vote cast by the Islanders was at Lincoln's first election, when they voted with Bristol. Their vote was with one exception, democratic and carried the town democratic. The vote was then contested and their vote thrown out leaving Bristol a republican majority.

Up to this time taxes had been paid to the town of Bristol. The only local expense was for the support of schools, which was met by receipts paid by New London fishermen who bought the privilege of fishing. After the trouble with Bristol, the Islanders, having been deprived of their sufferage, upon advice of several lawyers, refused to pay taxes saying, "We are willing to support the United States but refuse to help Bristol."

During the Civil War Bristol made a draft on her citizens, including the island and by some accident an unequally large percentage fell to the Islanders. Nine men from a possible forty-five were drawn to fill Bristol's quotas. The men refused to honor such a draft. When an officer landed to summons them he was met by a fusilade of boiled potatoes from the hands of an indignant matron and driven from the island. Citizens of the island then employed David Chamberlain, Esq., to visit the authorities at Augusta to learn their legal rights and duties in the matter and found Bristol had no right to draft them. They then met a proportional draft among their own citizens. John Loud, John Thompson and Henry McGray were drafted and bought substitutes. Later the residents bought other substitutes for drafted men. No citizen ever enlisted.

Fred'k Turner, a homeopathic doctor was the only resident practicing physician. He was an Englishman who came here from Bangor before the war.

A Baptist church was organized here about 1794. Wm Jones, John Murphy and Robert Oram were early deacons. Sylvanus P. Low came in the spring of 1861. Elder Edw. Dunbar sometimes preached here but Elder Edw. Turner was probably the first established pastor. Revs. Enos Trask, Wentworth Weeks, Revs. Ring, Flagg, Chas. E. Howes, Chisam and Pillsbury were later preachers. Rev. Fred Farnham was the last pastor.

The Muscongus Bethel church (Congregational) is a branch of the Portland Bethel and was organized Feb. 10, 1897. Rev. H. J. Allen was pastor for three years. Zenas Hoffses and Constantine Carter were the first deacons. John Carter is now deacon, and Jos. Carter, clerk. A Christian Endeavor Society holds regular services and a Sabbath school is maintained.

The earliest school house was built of rough stones. This was replaced by the old brick house, and that in turn by the present wooden structure built about 35 years ago. The occasion of a flag-raising about fifteen years ago was an event of much interest aad was largely attended; an address was delivered by R. H. Oram, of Bristol. The island school is well maintained by the payment of a certain amount for each pupil in attendance by their parents. Three terms are held each year with an average attendance of about 18 scholars. The management is vested with a school agent chosen each year.
